He was born in Watford, Dec. 20, 1842, the son of Sanders and Jennina (Burnell) Kimball. He attended the common schools of Watford and was graduated from Bridgton Academy in 1862. He was admitted to the Oxford Bar in 1864 and practiced in Watford till 1885, when he moved to Norway and has since practiced here, his office being in the Advertiser block.

He was a member of a family of three girls and two boys. His brother Lucian died in Watford at the age of sixteen years. The three sisters are living; Mrs. H. P. Brown, and Mrs. James Danforth of Norway and Mrs. Homer Groves of Gardiner, Mass.

He married Florence A. Houghton at Watford, April 29, 1866. They have one son, Merton L. Kimball an attorney, who has been in business with his father several years under the name of Kimball & Son, and who at present is S. S. Income Tax Agent for Maine. The father and son's families have lived in the large Kimball residence, each having a half of the house. Mr. Kimball is survived by his widow, his son and wife and a grandson, Houghton Kimball.

Mr. Kimball has always been a democrat and was very prominent in political affairs in this section. He has held many public offices among which are: Selectman and treasurer of Watford, Representative to Legislature, 1874-76.

Mr. Kimball studied law with the late Thomas J. Brigham who for a short time practiced law in Watford. North Watford Visitor

David Lebroke of North Watford was here last Tuesday. He was looking after butter moulds and pound stamps. The roads were not too bad between here and his home. There is some mud in places but the frost is not out as yet as there is some snow remaining, and the ice is in the lakes.

Harry Brown's mills were saved by the timely arrival of fire extinguishers. He got there with his before the whistle was done blowing and two others were shortly there and put the fire out. Mr. Brown was awarded $100.00 damages. David figured the prompt arrival of the fire extinguishers saved a ten thousand dollar loss.

Mr. Lebroke is in his 75th year and is considerable of a "critter yet". He has done nothing the past winter except the chores and light work and if it wasn't for the trouble on his left side he would feed in his left hand but, he has got so he can milk with both hands, and can handle the lines over horses as well as ever he could.

There will be work in the Oxford Star Thursday, April 22nd. Refreshments after work. Ladies requested to bring sandwiches, cake or doughnuts without further notice and entertainment at Concert hall by the Y. P. C. U. will be held this Thursday evening.

Some money was appropriated or raised at the last town meeting for repairs and maintenance of the above park. What shall be done is the question now perplexing the town fathers. Shall the pick-fence be rebuilt or taken down? Which shall it be?

What is your preference? Look it over and tell Geo. Holmes your conclusion. Frogs in the meadow lands were heard Sunday for the first time this spring; many of the early spring birds have commenced to arrive and their cheery notes are heard in the early morning hours.

Walker's Annual Field Day

The ninth annual was held last Wednesday. The weather was at its best and many farmers were present.

The long husking sheds of the Burnham & Morrill Co. were filled with teams; over one hundred teams were there at one time, representing many of the most progressive farmers in this section of the State.

There was a large and varied assortment of agricultural implements covering every want of the progressive tillers of the soil. Plows of different kinds seemed to predominate. There must have been a dozen varieties of soil turners from the one who walks and holds the plow to sulky rigs on which you ride. Machine planters with and without fertilizer for hand use and for one and two horses. Corn, beans, peas, grain and grass seed can be planted with them. Soil pulverizers of many kinds. May be half dozen from disc to spike tooth harrows. Manure spreaders of different sorts, hay rakes, loaders, tedders and dump carts. Gasoline engines, wood sawing outfit and a milking machine. Poison spraying apparatus, corn-shellers, winnowing mills and the like were in evidence.

It seemed much like an agricultural fair minus the race course and vaudeville. Several hundred people were examining the operations of these implements. The manufacturer had their agents here to show them and explain their workings and answer questions. Those who own and operate some of these machines were explaining "how and why" and advantages "to their neighbors who may be thinking of purchasing. Everyone was busy. All except A. W. Walker & Son, Percy, who had plenty of time to shake hands and talk with the people and get acquainted while the experts showed the working of the improved implements and machines.

The exhibition was really an education for the farmers and of much advertising value to the manufacturers and the Messrs. Walkers—who sell these implements and supply worn out parts in the years to come.

We noticed George B. Morrill of Portland of the corn packing firm of Burnham & Morrill was present and took a lively interest in everything that was going on. Their Corn Packing factory was opened for inspection even to the barrels of seed sweet corn stored therein.

The dinner was served in one of their buildings. Wooden corn cobs served for chairs and the first table accommodated 240 guests. The table linen was white paper and the food was abundant. Some 50 to 60 ate at the second table and surely over 300 were fed.

Will Twitchell with many white aproned ladies served the lunch of baked beans, crackers, cheese, pickles, coffee, oranges, bananas, cigars, etc. There were an abundance. Seven cases of Burnham & Morrill's baked beans steaming hot with pork and fixings were served and a two horse load of fruit, crackers and coffee. It was limited to the reporter that the Messrs. Burnham & Morrill stood in on this expense.

We noticed at our table—the second or third set up—there were three generations of corn packers present to see nothing about Mr. Geo. B. Morrill. There were Benjamin Tucker of Norway, his son, Arthur Tucker of Farmington, and Harold Tucker of Watford. Corn packing and farming are closely allied and improved machines wisely used helps the farmer and indirectly the packer.

We took a peek through A. W. Walker & Son's yards and buildings. Their interests are widely diversified "Coal, wood, cement, hair and lime" is on their letter heads. The big tanks of the Standard Oil Company are in their yard and are operated by them. Their cement block works are located here and the sand is close by. There is a fully equipped blacksmith shop and a two story implement house with a nice collection of farm machinery and several store houses and a standard gauged railroad track on either side. They have a cement built office with platform scale attachment and everything seems handy and nicely arranged.

TEN WEEKS IN BED—EMINENT PHYSICIANS FAILED—WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Swamp-Root. I had been a sufferer for more than twenty years from kidney and liver trouble and was almost constantly treated by the most eminent physicians who could only give me temporary relief. I had been in bed ten weeks when I began the use of Swamp-Root. Inside of twenty-four hours I could see that I had been greatly benefited. I continued to use Swamp-Root until I had used several bottles when I really felt that my old trouble was completely cured and I am positive that any person suffering with kidney or liver trouble can be cured by the use of this preparation.

I am now in the best of health, better than I have been for ten years or more. I do not know how to express myself as strongly as I desire, in favor of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, as I am sure that it saved my life and that my good health is due entirely to this great remedy. I heartily recommend it to every sufferer and am confident they can be benefited as I have been. It is a pleasure for me, gentlemen, to hand you this recommendation.

MRS. H. J. PRICE, 1400 Center St., Portsmouth, Ohio.

Personally appeared before me this 13th of September, 1909, Mrs. H. J. Price, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

THE BIRDS

I like em—the birds— With their songs without words, They are the poets of spring. When worn on a hat, It occurs to me that They are much more attractive a-wing.

Take and press 'em out flat, Their skins 'n all that, And they're not such a wonderful thing; As when torn from their throats, Enchants the whole world as they sing.

Now, a bird when it's dead, With glass eyes in its head, Mist with velvet and beads and all that, Seems a thing out of place. No matter what face Is a smutty satisfied, 'neath the hat.

Oh the face underneath Should be worn in a sheath To hide the poor features from sight, 'Less 'twixt them and the bird, The contrast astound.

Oh, I like 'em—the birds— With their songs without words, But I want 'em to sing Of spring, Not dead on the hats we're a-buying. CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

NUMBER WORK

A School Review

Many times each year it happens that pupils are absent from school for good reasons and frequently otherwise. In such instances it sometimes develops that those in charge of the school think that he should be regularly advanced with those who have been regular in attendance. Sometimes it is thought that if the teacher would give a little of her time outside of school hours that the pupil could catch up with the class and do the regular work at the same time, although he could no more than do the regular work when attending regularly.

If the above were possible it would indicate either that the work presented is not worth while or that the standard for work was of a low order and consequently not worth the efforts of the faithful pupils. As the work is now arranged, each grade beginning its work at the beginning of the fall term and finishing at the end of the spring term, there is a year's work assigned to be completed. In eight years the pupil finishes the essentials of the common school education, the ninth grade presenting the application of the previous subjects. Promotion to the next higher class is granted at the end of each year, provided that the pupil is not conditioned in more than one subject.

The number work in our schools commences in the first year and the first term. It is begun by the pupil learning to count to 10 and then becoming familiar with groups of objects closely related to his daily experience, recognizing them as definite number units. During this part of the term he learns the combinations of number groups to 5, using such familiar objects as henlock combs, autumn leaves, apples, blocks and sticks. It should be remembered that these little people are entering school are often not very talkative for the first few weeks. They must gain some self assurance by being seasoned to school-room customs and usages.

For class work in numbers these little people usually gather around a table on which the number objects are displayed and talk them over in combinations of the number being learned that day. The board by the teacher.

number objects as tenis, drums, balls, leaves, hats, fruit, Japanese lanterns, and many reasonable objects, varying with the ingenuity of the teacher, are drawn on the board in colors. They are grouped in such a way that they represent the number combination for the day.

These are talked over in class, each being pointed out by some pupil thereby assuring the attention, this being one of the first problems for the teacher to solve. Each problem they call a story.

They are then given small sheets of specially lined paper and from their desks reproduce the objects from the board and try to get the right solution which has already been talked.

A special record papers must have a special record by being displayed or having a star or some object pasted on them. If it is Thanksgiving time then perhaps a turkey or at Christmas a Santa Claus pasted on them which is all very wonderful to these little people.

The second half of the fall term is occupied with the addition of combinations for numbers to five and their related subtraction combinations or "take away" stories as they call them. In this part of the term they are made to see the number fact if possible. During the next or winter term all possible addition and subtraction combinations to seven are mastered.

The combinations to seven are mastered. The teaching of 1/2 of even numbers to 14 is also presented. By this time they are able to write the number stories by using the written numbers. Previously as each new number is presented they learn to recognize its form and to write it on the board while in class, each one doing so.

In the spring term they learn all combinations to 10 so as to tell them rapidly as possible. Here their first oral analysis begins in its simplest form as each tells his number story derived from cards on which a number story is pictured.

It must be remembered that these little folks in this first grade average about five years of age. In this term they count by 5's to 50, by 10's to 100 and by 11's to 110. The constant drill in any subject on the fundamentals accomplishes more than trying to do much merely for the sake of doing a great amount and that poorly.

My best teachers are untiring in routine work, logically and persistently striving for results and that is why they get them. The value of such teachers to a community cannot be computed in money terms. They leave a lasting impression on their pupils for a life time.

Indifferent teachers produce a negative effect that builds a dislike for school and obedience into the unfortunate pupil's mind. A courageous teacher gives more of herself in her profession than any other of the world's professions and physically, mentally, nervously and vocationally, menial professions both.

Many of my teachers will take a school book of mine on School Management, Discipline, or school games and get new inspirational material and methods and add new zest to their teaching ability.

My next article will continue the number work from the beginning of the second grade.

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement." Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."

Paint Wise

is to paint when your property needs it. Paint-foolish to wait for the price to go down.

But so many are foolish, they'll wait a good while.

The whole rise in the cost of a job is 10 per cent. The first year's drop will be more than half that, more likely a quarter.

Waiting for 5 per cent, more likely 21-2.

The average job (with Devoe) is $50; 5 per cent, $2.50. Put it off for $2.50! Guess not.

You think of that job as $100. So it is with inferior paint.

Paint Devoe; do it now, if your property needs it.

F. P. Stone, Norway; F. N. Wright, South Paris; Emery & Shaw Co., West Paris sell it.

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States. Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists. The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

Health Promotes Happiness.

Without health, genuine joy is impossible; without good digestion and regular bowel movement you cannot have health.
Why neglect keeping the bowels open and risk being sick and ailing? You don't have to. Take one small Dr. King's New Life Pill at night, in the morning
you will have a full, free bowel movement and feel much better. Help your appetite and digestion. Try one to-night.

WATERFORD.

Two Noted Men

The following happened when the Hon. A. S. Kimball was a young man and will be read with interest:

While a resident of Waterford, A. S. Kimball's office was directly opposite the home of one of America's greatest humorists—Charles Farrar Browne, better known under the pseudonym of Artemus Ward. Browne was a few years the senior of Mr. Kimball, having been born in 1834, but they were very intimate, especially during the latter part of Browne's life.

Upon the return home of Artemus from one of his lecturing tours he brought with him a protégé—a boy named George Stevens. Browne wished to have the boy educated in order to have a companion as well as a valet on his travels. Mr. Kimball was then a young lawyer looking for business so entered into an arrangement with Browne to teach the boy and prepare him for Bridgton academy. Young Stevens was taken to the office of Mr. Kimball, where he received instructions so many hours per day.

When at home Artemus made Mr. Kimball's office his place of rendezvous, and where he watched the progress of his protégé, and where he regaled the young lawyer with accounts of his tours. Stevens was sent to Bridgton academy, where he was when Browne died in England. Browne's trustees paid the boy's tuition at Bridgton and after his graduation obtained a position for him on the Riverside press at Cambridge, Mass.

His subsequent career is not known to people in this vicinity. When Browne died Mr. Kimball became the attorney for two of his executors, the late M. M. Robinson of New York, and Horace Maxwell of Waterford. If the curious should examine the records of the probate office of Oxford county, they would find the allowances made from the estate in the well known handwriting of Mr. Kimball. He was the business counselor of Mrs. Browne, the mother of Artemus, and when she died became the executor of her will. Mr. Kimball superintended the erection of the modest monument in the beautiful Elm Vale cemetery, at South Waterford, that marks the last resting place of the great humorist.

Mrs. Alice Freelove will be at Jenkin's store, Monday, April 19th, with a display of millinery and will be at Pinkham's store Tuesday April 20th. Adv.
